

The "MAN'S STORE."

The Best Clothes In America.

"Man's Store Make" Fall Suits and Overcoats are not merely as good as tailored to order clothes—they are better—far better in every way. They are designed by the highest salaried artists in the world—they are made of the very cream of the best wools produced this season—and they have a snap—a distinctiveness and a character in style, fit, and finish that no tailor can imitate. And they are not only better, but they cost less than made-to-order clothes. And there is no gamble in buying them, for they must fit—they must satisfy you in every way, or you do not take them.

The best dressed men at the clubs—in society—at the theaters—in business circles—wear "M. S. M." clothes—and they get more satisfaction and save money by doing it.

Plea for Birds Last Note of Week's Conference.

THANKS EXTENDED CAPITAL

City Is Scored for Condition of Work Horses, but Delegates Think Hospitality Was Not Lacking—Mrs. Huntington Smith, of Boston, Reads Interesting Paper.

After a week of busy warfare in the interest of suffering man and beast, the first American International Humane Conference adjourned at 4 o'clock yesterday, and the nearly 400 delegates began returning to their homes.

After striking a friendly blow for the horses of Washington, which were declared the most abandoned ever seen by many of the visitors, resolutions were passed yesterday deploring the slaughter of birds here and elsewhere, condemning moving picture shows of improper character, urging street improvements for the sake of hard-working draft horses, and denouncing bull-fighting and overcrowding fowls and cattle in shipment.

Vote of Thanks to City.

A vote of thanks was extended to Washington for the hospitality accorded the delegates.

Dr. Francis H. Rowley, president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, spoke at the morning session on "The animal and the public health."

"The debt that all ranks of our social life owe to the societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals, for the long, persistent, and continuing struggle to protect the unnumbered millions of creatures whose flesh is used for food, from man's inhumanity," he said, "is secured by legislation as shall make it possible to bring them to the place of slaughter in as fit condition as may be, and as little liable to become unwholesome and poisonous as food from sufferings entailed by reason of hunger and thirst and abuse and fright—this debt to our animal societies is beyond computation."

Dr. Lettingwell's Address

Slaughter-house reform was the topic handled by Dr. Albert Lettingwell, of Aurora, N. Y., and Mrs. Huntington Smith, of Boston, submitted a paper showing the need of properly conducted shelters for animals. T. W. Tomlinson, of Denver; George P. McCabe, solicitor of the Department of Agriculture, and William T. Hornaday, superintendent of the Bronx Zoological Park, New York City, were other speakers at the morning session.

VETERAN EXPIRES SUDDENLY

John R. Rankin Won Captaincy for Valor in War.

Employee of Government Printing Office for Many Years and Native of Indiana.

John R. Rankin, a veteran of the civil war, who was familiarly known as "Capt." Rankin, was found lifeless in his bed yesterday morning at his home, 151 Massachusetts avenue northeast. Heart failure is given as the cause. He was sixty-eight years old, a member of Phil Sheridan Post, G. A. R., the Loyal Legion, and other societies, and had been employed at the Government Printing Office.

When the civil war broke out he was attending Asbury University and, though but eighteen years old, he immediately enlisted in the Union army. After one year's service he was commissioned first lieutenant for bravery on the field, and before the end of the war attained the rank of captain.

Though Capt. Rankin was born in Indiana, he had been living here a long time, having worked in the Government Printing Office for the last twenty years. He was prominently identified with the Typographical Union in this city. He always returned to Indiana at election time, voting a straight Republican ticket, as he had done all his life.

He is survived by his wife and three children, who may make their home hereafter in Indianapolis. He will be buried in Arlington Cemetery Tuesday. The funeral arrangements are incomplete.

MORE MONEY NEEDED

Estimates for District May Exceed $12,000,000.

JUSTIFIED BY THE REVENUE

Schools Come in for a Goodly Share. Provision Made for Many New Teachers—Increase in All Is $1,500,000—Figures from Branches of the Public Service Trimmed.

Estimates for the operation of the District government, forwarded yesterday by the Commissioners to the Treasury Department, aggregate more than $12,000,000, an increase of $1,500,000 over the previous year. The estimates cannot be published, according to law, until after they are submitted to Congress.

In the increased expenditures made possible by the District's larger revenue, the schools will fare well, with an appropriation of about $3,000,000. Provisions are made for many new teachers and additional building sites.

The reclamation of Anacostia flats, Willow Tree Alley, the purchase of the Montrose tract for a public park, and the construction of a bridge across Rock Creek at Q street are important items in the year's budget. The last Congress authorized the purchase of the Montrose tract, but the Comptroller of the Treasury held that the act did not contain an appropriation for the purpose.

Economy All Around.

Police and fire departments will fare well in the estimates, though Chief Wagner's recommendation for an appropriation of $50,000 for high water pressure is not embodied. This item has been included in the estimates for several years. Though the increase in estimates is nearly $1,500,000, the Commissioners have forced economy in every department. The figures from every branch of the public service have been trimmed until brought to the present total.

The will of Dennis Horigan, 308 P street northwest, who died October 12, was filed yesterday, giving his daughter, Mary R. Horigan, property valued at $5,000 and his personal estate, which has not yet been valued.

Mr. Horigan left an estate of $60,000, consisting of houses in Georgetown. The remainder of his estate went to his three sons—William D. Horigan, Dr. Joseph A. Horigan, of Kansas City, and Francis Horigan, of Baltimore.

One of the oldest residents of the District, Mr. Horigan was for fifty-two years connected with the Naval Observatory, where he had become a fixture.

Fred Pelzman, commander, will march in uniform and may give an exhibition drill. Coldwell Company, No. 7, Capt. Williams, commanding, will act as escort.

One of the features of the exhibition will be the display of the Washington Florists' Club, which has secured 10,500 square feet in the show and will set up a replica of the famous Fushimi Mountain of Japan.

Brothers Relinquish Claim.

In order that flowers may be placed on the grave of John S. Farrell, whose will contained a codicil to that effect, and was declared invalid by Justice Gould in Probate Court, five brothers have relinquished all claim to the estate. The estate was yesterday conveyed to Mrs. Mary J. Farrell, the mother, who can use the money set aside for decorating her son's grave for twenty years. The estate is valued at $6,000.

WANTS MORE ROOM.

Dr. Warfield, of Freedmen's Hospital, Asks for New Buildings.

In his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior, Dr. W. A. Warfield, surgeon-in-chief at Freedmen's Hospital, urges the necessity of an addition to the hospital and the erection of a separate building for the housing of nurses. The nurses' home, Surgeon Warfield reports, can be erected for $12,500, and will afford a suitable place for pathological work in addition.

There is an urgent need of larger hospital quarters, Dr. Warfield asserts, because of the demand for services made annually. Dr. Warfield also wants the eleven acres of hospital property fenced in.

During the past year a total of 2,383 in-door patients were treated and 2,725 were received in the outdoor department. Nearly 1,500 operations were performed, of which 645 were of a major nature.
